

WALL STREET "SHORTS" ARE BECOMING NERVOUS

Authorities Show Little Disposition to Facilitate Covering Operations of Bears.

TYPICAL CASE AS EXAMPLE

Much Interest Being Manifested in Meeting of Bankers to Be Held in Washington, When Foreign Debts and Credits Will Be Considered.

BY BROADWAY WALL

New York, Sept. 3.—Wall Street "shorts" in the stock market again showed signs of nervousness today. All the averages were down from the previous day and are apparently weakened with the idea of prevailing shorts.

A liberal short interest in heavy undercurrents, and the stock market has shown a little disposition to favor the covering operations of the bears.

Take the case of a man who has 100 shares of steel common. Having sold the stock at 25 cents, he has a profit of 25 cents.

Trading on the stock exchange will not be resumed until the week ending September 14th, when the opening prices of stocks will be again ascertained.
